A Climate Justice Initiative of the Anglican Diocese of Auckland

Cherished Earth is a climate justice initiative of the Anglican Diocese of Auckland.

The initiative is about taking actions that connect faith with caring for creation, and is the practical outworking of a commitment by the Anglican Bishops of Aotearoa.

Projects within the initiative are scoped by the Anglicans Climate Action Network, Auckland (previously DCCAG) and managed by the Sustainability Fieldworker.

As projects become fully-fledged, their management shifts from the Sustainability Fieldworker, to the parish.

Since the Synod 2016 report, sustainability projects have been trialled at St Andrews Pukekohe and have a status of either completed, on-going, or planned as shown in the graphic.

Funding has been secured for the 2018/19 year, which means the Sustainability Fieldworker is available to support other parishes looking to start projects focused on sustainability, climate and adaptation projects.
